Stirone In Error, He Says

Admits Memory About Meeting Place Wrong; Changes Mind

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Nick Stirone, laborers union official on trial in federal court for extortion, said today he was "in error" when he testified concerning the place of a meeting in which the transaction which led to his indictment was discussed.

Stirone, accused of shaking down a Pittsburgh building supplies dealer for $31,274, returned to clear up a major discrepancy in his story of the events leading up to what he contended was a legal business transaction.

Stirone and Robert O. Dierker, middleman in the transaction by which the government contends the contractor was forced to pay tribute to the union official, both had testified that they had met in the Carlton House here in September, 1951.

U.S. Asst. Atty. Hubert Tietelbaum interrupted Dierker's testimony Thursday to offer to prove the Carlton House was not opened until March, 1952.

Changes Mind

Stirone, returning to the stand before the defense rested today, declared:

"Since yesterday (Thursday), I have had occasion to refresh my memory. It is possible that I met Mr. Dierker at some other place."

The defendant said his best recollection of his meeting with Dierker was at the William Penn Hotel, now the Penn Sheraton. This was the meeting, he said, which resulted in his introduction to the victim of the alleged extortion, William G. Rider.

Stirone declared the money he received from Rider actually was in payment of a commission for obtaining Rider a contract to supply ready-mixed concrete to a building project at an Allenport Steel mill.

During cross-examination of Dierker, Tietelbaum asked repeatedly if he was sure the meeting was in the Carlton. Defense counsel Vincent M. Casey interrupted the examination to interject, "Certainly we mean the Carlton House —not some chop suey joint."

Tietelbaum then asked Dierker: "Do you know the Carlton House was not open until March, 1952?"

When the witness replied he did not, the federal attorney said the government would prove such was the case.

Testifying for the prosecution, Rider said the meeting with Stirone took place at Rider's concrete mixing plant.

SIGNING THE MAYFLOWER (II) PACT — Crew members of the Mayflower II re-enact the signing of the historic Mayflower Compact as Capt. Alan Villiers (extreme right) looks on. The Mayflower Compact was the first record of law and order in the New World. The Pilgrim ship replica made the voyage from Brixham, England, to Provincetown, Mass., in 53 days.

Mayflower II Crew Begins Unloading 'Treasure' Chests

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP) — The crew of the Mayflower II today began unloading its cargo of 92 "treasure" chests. They include animal feed for President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm.

The chests, weighing up to 500 pounds each, contained $200,000 worth of items ranging from Mayflower II construction chips to snuff boxes.

The Mayflower, which tied up at a buoy after its arrival here Thursday, was moved about 100 yards to a dock for the cargo unloading. The job was expected to take two days.

The animal feed and an oil painting of the Mayflower II were consigned to the British Embassy in Washington for presentation to President Eisenhower as gifts from the British people.

Warwick Charlton, one of the British sponsors of the Mayflower's 54-day transatlantic voyage, carried off the boat a gold medallion with a tiny watch inside for President Eisenhower.

Visitors Banned

Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the small craft which negotiated the Atlantic crossing in 54 days, dampened the enthusiasm of the huge crowds when he banned tourists from the ship.

"There wouldn't be enough of her left to sail to New York if we allowed souvenirs hunters aboard," he said. "The Mayflower is not a good vessel for visiting. She's small, and very few could board her at any one time."

The skipper said that even in New York where the ship will be on display through the summer, no sightseers will be allowed to

Ohio Father of 13 Faces Charge Of Manslaughter

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Henry Clay Jefferson, Youngstown, Ohio, father of 13 children, today faced indictment for manslaughter as the result of a coroner's inquest in the death of a Rossiter, Pa., woman who was killed in an automobile collision on Route 19 last May 3.

The crash occurred at the entrance of the Thorn Hill Industrial School, where the victim, Mrs. Bertha G. Fonner, was a teacher. Mrs. Fonner and two other teachers were leaving the school when the car Jefferson was driving crashed into the rear of the teachers' car.

State police said Jefferson was driving at more than 65 miles an hour and skidded 175 feet before the collision. Officers said they found a bottle of vodka which had been opened.

The coroner jury's recommended Jefferson be held for the grand jury.

100 Killed on State Highways

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Revenue Department reported today that 100 persons were killed in 40 multiple fatal traffic accidents on Pennsylvania highways in the first four months of this year.

O. D. Shipley, head of the department's Bureau of Highway Safety, said a study indicated most of the accidents were caused mainly by excessive speed, improper or unsafe passing and loss of control probably at high speeds.

Shipley said there were 25 drivers in the 16-24 age group involved in the accidents, as compared to 32 in the 25-29 age bracket. Six were over 60 years of age, while the ages of the others were not stated on accident reports.

Humphrey Says Taxes Can Be Cut July, 1958

WASHINGTON (UP)—Treasury secretary George M. Humphrey said today it may be possible to cut taxes sometime during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958.

He said a tax cut this year is "absolutely out of the question" and added that "I don't see how" there can be a tax cut to take effect at any time in the next 12 months.

Humphrey made the statement to a joint congressional economic subcommittee studying tax-cutting prospects.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) told Humphrey there have been published reports that the administration is planning to ask Congress early next year to enact a tax cut.

"There are no such plans that I know of," Humphrey replied.

He pointed out that the administration has not put together its budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958. He said it would be "idle to make plans at this time for any tax cut until we know much more about what the next year is going to produce."

Budget Director Percival F. Brundage testified Thursday that he hopes "it may be possible" to consider some tax reductions effective after July 1, 1958.

Murder Suspect Files Petition

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Erie County Judge Burton Laub has set next Monday for a hearing on a petition by Leroy Magee charging he is being held on a murder charge without sufficient evidence.

The Jamestown, N.Y., resident, 29, father of seven children, is accused of helping his brother, Keith, set fire to an automobile containing the unconscious victim George Harrington, 70, in November, 1953.

Keith, serving a life sentence at Western State Penitentiary for his part in the death, will be brought to the hearing in an effort to block his brother's bid for freedom, officials said.

Keith cleared his brother at his trial, but later recanted and signed statements implicating Leroy.

B&O to Connect With New Mine

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has granted a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad request for prompt approval of rail connections to an Armstrong County coal mine that will reopen next month and provide jobs for more than 75 men.

The grade crossings will carry a freight sidetrack over State Routes 03058 and 03066 and Township Road 481 in Cowanshannock Twp. to the rehabilitated Margaret Mine of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co.

The railroad told the PUC the mine opening depended upon adequate rail service and asked for immediate approval to build the crossings, with hearings to be held later on allocation of costs.

Seeks $20,000 For Damages At Carnival

James D. Finlayson, of Bentleyville, has filed a $20,000 damage suit against L. J. Thomas, of Florida, proprietor of Thomas' Joyland Shows.

The suit is for injuries which his minor son, James W. Finlayson, suffered two years ago while attending a carnival at Charleroi.

The suit was filed in Greene County courts as the carnival is now playing at Waynesburg.

Finlayson contends his boy suffered permanent injuries July 9, 1955, while using a "test your strength" coin machine at the carnival.

Some part of the mechanism snapped, he states, throwing the youth against the machine, causing serious head and spinal injuries as well as other injuries.

14 Soldiers Killed in Accident

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UP)—Fourteen soldiers of the storied 101st Airborne Division died pinned under a truck which plunged 25 feet into a creek Thursday. Nine others were injured.

A spokesman from the Ft. Campbell public information office said some of the men apparently were drowned and others crushed to death when the big truck skidded off a gravel road through a guard rail into shallow Piney Ford Creek.

"We don't know yet just how they died but an investigation already is underway," a spokesman said.

Pvt. Ronald J. Curtis, 21, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who escaped with his face bloodied from cuts, said survivors held the heads of trapped men above water to try to keep them from drowning.

Curtis said only about three of the men got out from under the wreckage. A helicopter had to be used to lift one end of the truck off the bodies of the other men.

Skids on Curve

The one and one-half ton Army truck was returning 25 men of the 101st from field training when it skidded on a curve in hill country near the Kentucky-Tennessee border and hit the rocky creek bed.

Curtis said he felt the truck "swerving to the right" on the curving downgrade but said, "I thought the driver would bring it out of the skid—then I saw the bridge come up."

Curtis said even then he thought it was only "a pretty good scare—nothing serious," but the next moment he "had a falling sensation, followed by a thud, not a crash.

"There was a feeling of pressure against us. Everyone was being tossed around. There was no panic, no screaming, no yelling. My left leg was under someone and my head was under water.

"I wrenched free and got out somehow.

The nine injured including Curtis, none believed badly hurt, were taken to the base hospital.

The soldiers were returning to within about nine miles of the base after several days of field training when the tragedy occurred.

Dulles Issues Secret Report To Defense Chiefs

QUANTICO, Va. (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave U.S. defense chiefs a secret report on international problems today.

Disarmament was believed high on the list of problems Dulles discussed at the opening of the fifth annual defense conference here.

The three-day conference, attended by some 170 U.S. civilian and military officials from domestic and foreign posts, was veiled in unusual secrecy.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said the precautions were designed to let the defense chiefs speak their minds "frankly."

One piece of news was released shortly after the conference opened, however. The Defense Department announced the appointment of Rear Adm. John M. Sides, a guided missiles expert, to head the department's weapons system evaluation group, effective Aug. 1.

In that job he will be the "man in the middle" of the competition between Army and Air Force missile makers.

The admiral will be responsible for examining all new weapons systems to determine whether they are practical.

Local Firemen Answer Alarms Last Evening

Monessen firemen answered two alarms within 15 minutes last night, Chief W. Roy McShaffrey reported today. Both fires caused minor damage.

At 9:30 p. m. a gas leak caused a small fire in a stove at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cieply, of 140 E. Schoonmaker Ave. It was quickly extinguished.

Fifteen minutes later firemen extinguished a fire in the motor of a truck owned by Randall Lee, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon. The truck was near the Monessen City limits on the Monessen-Webster Rd. When the carburetor caught fire.

The fire halted traffic on the road for about 20 minutes.

Strong Winds Lash District; Belle Vernon, Monongahela Hard Hit

A severe rainstorm with wind gusts up to 65 miles per hour lashed the Monessen district late yesterday afternoon and left a trail of property damage.

The windstorm was particularly damaging in the Belle Vernon and Monongahela areas. No serious damage was reported in Monessen.

The hurricane-like storms ripped through the Belle Vernon district about 6 p. m., downing utility lines and uprooting trees.

The Belle Vernon area was blacked out for about an hour due to felled power lines. West Penn Power Co. officials said the blackout resulted when a tree fell on main power lines in the downtown section.

Telephone lines were also toppled causing some 125 subscribers, mostly in rural Belle Vernon, to be without service for a short length of time.

School Damaged

A wing of Monongahela High School was extensively damaged Wednesday when a 90-foot chimney was struck by lightning and huge slabs of mortar and brick showered through the gymnasium.

That section of the school was deserted at the time and there were no injuries.

The bolt stripped about 25 feet of masonry from the outside of the chimney and the inside of the stack from the top down to the level of the gymnasium roof was damaged.

A chunk of brick and mortar three feet square crashed into the bleachers on the gym floor after smashing through four concrete roof supports.

Water cascaded through the hole in the roof and school officials fear the expensive hardwood floor may warp as a result.

Dr. John A. Griffiths, superintendent of Monongahela schools, said that someone most certainly would have been killed had the accident happened a week earlier when commencement exercises were being held in the gymnasium.

Dr. Griffiths added that the full extent of the damage is not yet known and that chimney experts have been summoned to make recommendations for repairs and to remove a huge slab of brick and concrete which extends dangerously from the chimney.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — Knido Escamilla took his wife shopping Thursday night and while she shopped he dozed in the family automobile.

Awakening suddenly, he summoned patrolman Lewis Garza. This is Garza's official report of what befell Escamilla during his nap:

Complainant woke up to find his shirt and undershirt gone. While he was asleep some unknown thief stole the shirts off his back. No suspects."

District Man Dies as Result Of Wind Storm

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Washington County man died today of injuries suffered during a violent storm which swept Western Pennsylvania late Thursday.

The storm victim, George Robison, Washington RD 4, died in Mercy Hospital here of head injuries suffered when he was struck by a barn door which was torn from its hinges by the high wind.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh reported that gusts of wind up to 64 miles were recorded during the heavy rain storm which swept through the district along a north-south line 250 miles long.

Numerous power failures occurred at Pittsburgh when power lines were blown down. The storm hit the city at the homeward traffic rush hour and snarled traffic.

The weather bureau said more than a half inch of rain fell within an hour at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Army Overturns Haiti Government In Bloodless Coup

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UP)—The army today overturned the provisional government in a bloodless early morning coup and arrested President Daniel Fignole.

Army chief of staff Gen. Antonio Kebreau headed the coup. He was expected momentarily to announce plans for a new military regime.

Officers were reported to have surrounded Fignole's home sometime after midnight. They presumably took him into the fortress - like Les Casernes Dessalines, an army barracks.

The city was in a turmoil but no violence was reported.

Kebreau's action came less than three weeks after Fignole was proclaimed president on the heels of the May 25 revolt.

Diplomatic observers expected it because Fignole had been unable to halt the rapid deterioration in Haiti's economic situation.

One U.S. expert told United Press the coup had been in the making since Monday.

Kebreau apparently acted to head off expected mob demonstrations by Fignole supporters scheduled for Sunday and an attempt by Fignole to interpret these as his "election" to a full presidential term.

Anti-Cancer Drug Causes Stock Flurry

NEW YORK (UP)—Rumors of the effectiveness of a new anti-cancer drug made a chemical firm's stock the most active on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday and raised its price to a new high for the year.

The firm issued a statement immediately after the close of the exchange cautioning that the drug is not a cancer cure and has not been fully evaluated yet as a palliative—something which reduces the violence of a disease without curing it.

The drug, produced by E. R. Squibb & Sons, was identified as a steroid compound, a name describing a group of chemicals related to various hormones of the body.

Squibb and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., its parent company, said in a joint statement: "The compound is still in its infancy clinically . . . it would be premature even to attempt a deduction as to the compound's ultimate effectiveness at this extremely early point in its testing."

Olin Mathieson stock rose from $53.88 to $58.50 during trading Thursday with 106,200 shares changing hands. Its previous high for the year had been $56.25.

The statement said the drug is under study on a small number of patients at Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research here, at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, and at the University of Miami Medical School.

The Miami Medical School's Research Department announced today that it had had successful results in treating 20 breast cancer patients with a new pill. It said the drug is not a cure but is designed for use only after surgery has failed" to stop the spread of the cancer in such cases.

This does not wipe out cancer," one of the research doctors said. Rather, it checks cancer growth and prolongs the life of the patient."

Budget Battle Resumed in State Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—The battle of the budget which appeared all but settled earlier this week, has resumed in the Senate in the form of a legislative deadlock temporarily threatening the final adjournment timetable

Senate Democrats The solons used the same methods utilized by their House colleagues earlier by withdrawing their votes for non-preferred appropriations for state aided schools and hospitals pending a final conference committee agreement on the $1 111 - 013 000 General Appropriations Bill

The issue centered around a bill appropriating $82 000 to the Orlando S Johnson Industrial School of Scranton in Democratic Lackawanna County The Democratic delegation withheld their votes for the bill and it failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority and fell, 26-19 Senate Majority Leader Rowland B Mahany (R-Crawford) immediately revived the measure and called for another vote A bill may be reconsidered only once under Senate rules, but those rules may be suspended at any time by majority vote.

Mahany warned the Democratic delegation that should the bill be defeated a second time it cannot be brought up again" Nevertheless, party lines held and the bill went down for a second time with all Democrats voting against it.

Charges "Test" Strategy

Dent charged the Scranton school bill was selected for the test because it is located in a Democratic-controlled county and Republican leaders felt it would put the minority party in a "hot spot" if Democrats refused their votes for the measure

He immediately moved to bring up an appropriation bill for the Elwyn Training School in Delaware County. It was obvious that the Democrats intended to push this measure to defeat also but the Republican leadership blocked the move by declining to take a vote on the bill at that time

Dent then indicated there will be no Democratic votes for any of the non-preferred appropriation bills totaling more than 93 million dollars.

'What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander' Dent said "It still takes 34 votes for these bills to clear this chamber

Both parties recessed for caucuses following the Senate flare-up and tempers cooled to a point where party leaders were said to have agreed to put the Scranton school appropriation bill across if and when the Senate Democrats release the remaining non-preferred appropriations.

Agreement Expected Soon

Although the Senate and House meet today the conference committee on the General Appropriations Bill was not expected to come up with any agreement until early next week In the meantime, the Democrats will use their hold on the non-preferred appropriations as a trading point for whatever concessions they may be able to wring from the Republican leadership in the way of restoring general appropriation cuts

The Republican leadership apparently has agreed to a vote for next Tuesday for final adjournment.

Another Senate - House conference committee, meanwhile cleared for floor action in both chambers a compromise proposal to ban telephone wire tapping.

The revised legislation would prohibit any person from intercepting a communication by telephone or telegraph without permission of the parties to such communication" thus eliminating wiretapping as an investigative procedure by law enforcement agencies

In the House, a proposal for a $2 800 000 appropriation for slum clearance subsidies was okayed and sent to the Senate without debate Although House Republicans restored $1 500 000 cut from the program by the Appropriations Committee the $2 200 000 short of Governor George M Leader's budget request

In other action the Senate sent to the governor a bill requiring certain records of local and state governmental agencies to be open to the public at reasonable times The measure is opposed by Pennsylvania newspaper publishers

Ike Plugs Foreign Aid Over Breakfast

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower plugged his foreign aid bill today in another round of coffee cup politics with House Republicans.

The Chief Executive served juice, bacon and sausage scrambled eggs, and coffee—and advice—to 42 GOP House members at the second in a series of White House harmony breakfasts

Rep. James G. Fulton of Pennsylvania said the President, circulating from table to table in the state dining room, urged passage of his $3 800,000,000 mutual aid appropriation as "absolutely necessary and the best way to wage peace."

Vice President Richard M Nixon and GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn also were guests at the breakfast.

Forty Republicans attended the first breakfast Wednesday. They ate sausages and scrambled eggs and said afterwards many told the President their side of the issues involved in his embattled legislative program

They said the President didn't do much lobbying for the program but did do a lot of listening

Rep Robert L. F. Sikes (D-Fla) accused the President Thursday of "violating the civil rights of Democrats" by only inviting Republicans to the breakfasts

During the House debate on the Civil Rights bill Sikes commented with tongue in cheek

'The White House is a federal institution operated by public funds The laws which have been issued by the Supreme Court don't allow segregation in such facilities yet we find the Republicans openly practicing segregation against the Democrats'

However, Sikes said 'We from the South would be content with separate but equal time at the White House dining table"

Girard Case Faces First Big Showdown

WASHINGTON (UP)—U S Atty Oliver Gasch predicted today Federal Judge Joseph C McGarraghy will back up the government in the Girard case and preserve America's prestige in the eyes of the world

The celebrated case that has caused a furor at home and abroad heads toward its first big showdown today

McGarraghy has given GI William S Girard's lawyers until 4 p m today to file legal precedents to back their contention Girard should be brought home from Japan and tried by a U S court martial for killing a Japanese woman

The government also plans to submit a final list of court decisions supporting its claim Japan should try the 21-year-old Army specialist from Ottawa, Ill, under a U S status of forces' agreement with Nippon

May Rule Today

McGarraghy is generally expected to announce his anxiously awaited decision next week But Gasch told the United Press he wouldn't be surprised if the judge gives his decision today

He's been working the same as the rest of us on this case and I guess he has come up with the same legal cases we did He may rule today He's not the kind of judge who holds up a decision'

Gasch predicted the government will lose out in the court

Girard's Army lawyer who has been working around the clock preparing a list of court cases they hope will back their demand that Girard be tried by U S authorities, also have forecast their own victory

Whichever side loses is expected to appeal promptly to the U S Court of Appeals here and the case may reach the Supreme Court soon, however the Supreme Court is slated to quit for the summer Monday

Unless the high court stays in session because of the international importance of the case, the time factor might postpone a final decision until next fall. In that case the courts presumably would order Girard held in U S custody until then This in turn might delay his Japanese trial, now expected to start in August

Least Possible Charge

Girard is accused of killing Mrs Naka Sakai a Japanese woman who was picking up empty shells on a firing range in Japan by shooting an empty cartridge from a grenade launcher attached to his rifle. The U S government decision to turn the young GI over to Japan for trial has aroused stiff protests from a number of organizations and congressmen here

(The Japanese have charged Girard with 'death by wounding the least possible charge for such an action It is punishable by a sentence of 2 to 15 years The United States says that while Girard was 'on duty' his act in firing the shell was unauthorized)

The Girard case has roused considerable feeling in Congress Chairman Thomas S Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said Thursday his group will delay final action on the foreign aid bill if necessary to investigate the Girard case

A Foreign Affairs subcommittee was slated to open an inquiry into the case Thursday but was unable to because of the civil rights debate in progress But Gordon said he had no intention of dropping the matter

'We've decided to go through with this," he told a reporter He added his group had no intention of deliberately delaying passage of foreign aid legislation but only wants to make a full inquiry into the Girard case

Jenner Fights Using Tax Money For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen William E Jenner (R-Ind) said today Congress 'cannot justify taxing our people to give away money to the foreign aid follies"

Jenner delivered a 15-minute floor speech against the aid program as the Senate moved toward actual voting on amendments to the $3 637 000 000 foreign aid program

The first test showed up on a move by Sen Russell B Long (D-La) to cut 90 million dollars from the 800 million dollars recommended by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for so-called defense support' indirect military aid

Jenner said the administration's modified program with a new revolving loan fund to handle economic aid, is 'just trying to put a new dress on the old girl but what a poor job they have done"

He said the entire program is still a "giveaway"

Foreign Aid Chief John B Hollister defended the program in testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. He said it is necessary to our national security," and that major changes in this year's requests have put the whole program on a sounder basis

Long planned to follow his 90 million dollar defense support cut effort with a move to lop 300 million dollars from the $1 800 000,000 authorization for military aid

Probe Asked to Study Motors On Pymatuning

HARRISBURG (UP)—A legislative investigation was asked today of the use of motor boats on Pymatuning Lake and their effect on industrial and community water supply needs in the Shenango and Beaver valleys

A House resolution introduced by Rep Ralph J. Down (R-Mercer) would direct the Joint State Government Commission to study the effect of high-powered motorboats on the lake

The measure said the commission should determine if the increasing of the water level in the lake would be a deterrent to local industries. It added that Pymatuning dam and lake were developed primarily for "advancing the industrial potential" of the area and that recreational and sports activities were secondary.

The commission would report its findings to the 1959 session

Gov George M Leader recently vetoed legislation which would have enlarged the lake area for more powerful motorboats, chiefly on the ground it posed a threat to water supplies for communities and industries.

He said such legislation would set in motion "pressures for maintenance of water levels high enough to support such motorboating," and thus adversely affect more than 200,000 persons in Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver counties, all bordering Ohio and all "in competition with neighboring Ohio communities for industry

U. S. Speeds Action To Block Merger of Two Steel Companies

NEW YORK (UP)—The government has speeded its attempt to block the merger of two of the nation's largest steel producers in an action which could bring a court decision in months instead of years"

Assistant United States Attorney General Allen Dobey asked for a summary judgment in federal court Thursday to block the merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co

The court gave the companies until Sept 16 to reply. It set Nov 4 for arguments.

The government filed an anti-trust action against the merger last December claiming the merger tends towards monopoly in the steel industry by forming a giant with assets in excess of 2 billion dollars

The call for a summary judgment bypasses long trial procedure and means the court will rule on the legal question without trial formalities

The government's motion followed last week's anti-trust victory over E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. in the US Supreme Court where Du Pont's ownership of 20 per cent of General Motors stock was ruled in violation of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act.

The steel companies issued a joint statement Thursday following the government's court action They claim the merger would increase rather than decrease competition in the steel industry by forming a company better able to complete with US Steel Corp The two combined still would not be as large as U S. Steel

The statement also said that the merger would enlarge the supply of steel products—particularly in the Middle West—in contrast with past mergers which tightened control of the market.

Edward Lamb Given Renewal Of TV License

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission has ended a three-year battle, by granting Edward O. Lamb a renewal of his license to operate television station WICU in Erie, Pa

The commission ruling, handed down Thursday in effect cleared the Toledo, Ohio, businessman of charges that he had former connections with the Communist Party

"The decision of the commission is more than approval of my broadcasting and other activities" Lamb said from his Toledo headquarters 'It gives us some reassurance of the integrity of our court and administrative agencies'

Lamb said the charges brought against him were organized smears" He declared he will 'continue to be liberal and independent"

'I want to aid the cause of the underprivileged people everywhere and assist in obtaining a world tolerant of the novel and unpopular"

Lambs prolonged fight before the commission began on March 11 1954, when the FCC held up renewal of the Erie TV license and called on him to answer questions about alleged Communist associations.

Comptroller on Stand; Is Facing Cross-examination

HARRISBURG (UP) — A key state witness faced a renewed barrage of cross-examination today in the trial of nine men charged with a multi-million dollar swindle of Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission funds.

Defense attorneys Thursday drew from Franklin V. Summers, commission comptroller, the testimony that construction contracts totaling over 12 million dollars were awarded by the agency without competitive bidding.

In a move to offset state charges of irregularity in the awarding of a 1955 drilling contract to the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp. the defense used the prosecution's own witness to disclose similar contracts let on a so-called "negotiated" basis without advertising or competitive bidding.

Summers identified 12 contracts awarded in 1955 and 1956 on a negotiated basis.

Charge Conspiracy

The state charges that five former commission officials and two Manu-Mine officers conspired to defraud the commission in the Manu-Mine contract for drilling on the Northeastern Extension of the turnpike.

The Commonwealth contends that Manu-Mine held a "favored" position in its dealings with the commission and that through the contract the commission was defrauded of "millions of dollars."

Summers' testimony disclosed that the firm drilled 682-thousand feet of holes through which flushing material was put into abandoned mines beneath a 12 mile section of the roadway.

Manu-Mine billed the commission a total of $8,532,000 for the work before the contract was suspended early in 1956. The firm has a suit pending in Dauphin County Court for payment of approximately one million dollars for work which it claims was performed but not paid for.

Pittsburgh Steel Co. Calls for Production

Pittsburgh Steel has issued an all-out call for more employe production.

Faced with an anticipated shutdown of its bar and billet mills for a three-week period this summer, Pittsburgh Steel has asked all its employes to continue record production levels in order to keep its shutdown time down to a minimum.

The next two months are crucial, company officials stressed in the latest issue of Keystone, employe production. They gave three reasons why this is so. They are:

1. The month of May saw a series of unexpected mechanical breakdowns in the blooming mill, especially at the 18 and 28-inch finishing mills. (They were serious enough to produce the roughest stretch of operating conditions since the new blooming mill was installed five years ago.)

2. The breakdowns came just as the blooming mill started the double job of rolling steel for regular orders and — at the same time — trying to build a surplus of tube rounds, squares and bars. This surplus will be needed to keep wire and tube mills operating during a planned 21-day shutdown (probably in August) of the 18 and 28-inch mills.

3. For the past several months, the market for steel has been such that customers are holding off their orders until the last minute. Then, when they 'place' orders, they insist that deliveries be made on the exact date they specify. When Pittsburgh Steel misses this date, it takes a chance on losing the order.

Boiled down, these three facts mean that management has had its hands full. And that situation is going to last for awhile longer.

To keep the flow of regular orders going and to build the surplus of semi-finished steel needed during the 21-day shutdown, the blooming mill will have to produce at its rated capacity.

Therefore the blooming mill is one vital key to how well the company — and, needless to say its employes — will do during the third quarter months of July, August and September.

Billy Graham Says Crusade in Slight Slump

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham said Thursday night that his New York crusade had fallen into an expected fifth-week slump that requires Christians to pray and act to pump new spiritual vigor into it.

Attendance at his sermons has not fallen off noticeably. Thursday night's crowd of 17,000 was about average and more than 535,000 persons have heard Graham's sermons since the crusade began May 15.

But Wednesday night's 336 "decisions for Christ" was the lowest number recorded since the revival started and Thursday night's 447 "decisions" was roughtly two-thirds the number Graham has averaged nightly.

"I feel myself, and members of our crusade team agree with me, that we're falling down in our prayers," Graham said. "This always happens in the fifth week of our crusades—it happened in London and Glasgow.

"I'm asking you to pray with all your hearts for this crusade, and then go a step farther—go out and be an evangelist yourself—bring in your unchurched friends."

Tax Reassessment A Growing Need

THE QUESTION as to whether industrial machinery should be taxed as real estate has come to the fore in Harrisburg again as a result of proposals to exempt machinery from taxation in Allegheny County as it was exempted elsewhere in the state a couple of years ago.

The issue is one that lends itself to debate. But on one point we fail to see how there can by any difference of opinion, namely that the policy should be uniform throughout the Commonwealth.

The lack of uniformity was what raised the issue previously. Westmoreland County, for instance, was taxing machinery as real estate; but Washington County was not. And this did not make good sense.

Since the exemption law was passed, a kind of gentlemen's agreement has been in effect between the taxing authorities of Westmoreland County and the county's major industries. Under this arrangement the industries have continued to pay taxes on their former assessments; but as old machinery is discarded, its assessed value is deducted from the valuations. And as new machinery is acquired, it is not added to the lists.

The effect of this is a gradual attrition of industrial valuations rather than the abrupt cut-off which would have occurred had the letter of the new exemption law been observed. And county and local taxing officials are understandably appreciative of the attitude of the industries.

* * *

BUT THIS has only postponed what must eventually take place in Westmoreland County and its industrial communities such as Monessen. That is a complete and scientific reappraisal of real estate valuations for tax purposes.

This has been overdue for many years, and the taxing authorities at both the county and city levels have realized it. They have done nothing about it because elected officials and their appointees are always reluctant to disturb the status quo where taxes are concerned. To amend the adage a little: sleeping dogs don't go to the polls and throw the rascals out.

But political tranquility and wise government policies don't always coincide. And in this matter we do not see how a breakdown of the tax structure can be avoided if an equitable assessment program is not developed soon in Westmoreland County.

Moreover, the political risks may be greater if such a program is postponed much longer. For if the taxpayers once become aware — as they surely must — that the tax base is seriously inequitable — as it undoubtedly is in many instances — they will find candidates to champion their cause.

The time to undertake a thorough reassessment is before the breakdown and the political retribution set in.

Police and Politics

LOOKING back at the long history of political manipulation of the Monessen Police Department, it is hard to avoid the suspicion that the City Council had Patrolman Phillip Panepinto on trial on Wednesday for an offense which could not be included in the formal specifications against him.

For the record, Panepinto was charged by Mayor Parente and Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka with "sleeping on duty" and failing to check in with the desk sergeant while patrolling a beat.

It is easy to agree that these charges, if proven, would call for punishment in any properly managed police force. Alertness and obedience in following prescribed routines are elementary requirements in such a force.

But anyone who is at all familiar with the politics and personalities involved has to ask himself whether Patrolman Panepinto would have been brought to trial or even reprimanded had he not violated one of the other requirements of police duty in Monessen by opposing Mayor Parente in the Democratic primary last month.

Mr. Panepinto undoubtedly got his job in the first place through political influence, which would make him no different from most of the other members of the force. And perhaps, under the rules of the game as it has been played here, he understood that his tenure depended on other things besides calling the station every hour while patrolling a beat.

Nevertheless, we never like to see the law used as a political club. And we hope that if the Council decides to discipline Patrolman Panepinto on the basis of the formal charges against him, it means that henceforth every member of the police force, including those who stay on the political reservation, must obey the regulations to the letter.

It would be still better, in our view, if the police could be taken out of politics altogether.

Merry-Go-Round—

'Old Guard' Adds to Ike's Troubles

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Old Guard Republicans are going to resent it, but modern Republicans are saying that the future of the President's health is largely up to the Old Guarders.

Mr. Pearson

If he hadn't been so harassed by budget cuts, if he hadn't had to jump up to Capitol Hill for a box luncheon with GOP congressmen, if he hadn't had to fly back from Florida to speak to the Republican National Committee, they say, the recent stomach seizure would not have happened.

This is exaggerated, but probably there is some truth to it. The work of the President is crushing enough. If on top of this he has to whip his own political party into line, the burden can be unbearable.

GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn had just persuaded the President to undertake a series of back-slapping conferences with rank-and-file members of the GOP. The Capitol Hill box luncheon was the start. A series of White House breakfasts, 40 congressmen at a time, was to follow.

Ike wasn't enthusiastic, doesn't like back-slapping, though he does it well. However, he will be the last man to mourn if this is now curtailed.

Modern Republicans say it's now up to Old Guard Republicans to cooperate without putting any extra burden on Ike. If it works out that way, this week's stomach upset will be a blessing in disguise.

June 1956 — June 1957

Whether you call it ileitis or nausea or a nervous colon, the fact is that President Eisenhower has always suffered from stomach trouble when under heavy strain, and his staff will have to govern his schedule accordingly.

He can handle the routine chores of office without any trouble. But events and problems have a tendency to pile up.

Here is the interesting record of what has happened to the President when events and problems piled up in the past:

June 9, 1956 — Just before last year's ileitis attack the following events had happened: House leaders were called in and urged to reinstate a $1,000,000 cut in foreign aid . . . The President had refused to support his supporter, Sen. Alex Wiley, in the battle by Wisconsin McCarthyites to defeat him . . . A newsman asked why he supported Secretary McKay in Oregon but not Wiley. The color rose on the back of Ike's neck . . . Ex-Senator Harry Cain got into a shouting match with the White House Staff in front of Ike regarding unfairness toward alleged subversives . . . All these seemed to snowball into 48 disagreeable, difficult hours just before the President was stricken.

June 10, 1957 — Just before the recent stomach upset, the President again faced the battle of the budget plus a reversal regarding Army Specialist 3-C William Girard and British-Chinese trade. He should be tried in an American military court when John Foster Dulles demanded — and won — a reversal. He had also given his indirect blessing to British trade with Red China by stating June 5, "You are going to have just authorized trade or you are going to have clandestine trade."

In contrast, his State Department had said on May 30: "The United States is most disappointed by this action."

Last week he also performed the distasteful ceremony of welcoming the Ambassador of the Dominican Republic Manuel de Moya, bosom pal of Dictator Trujillo.

"You return to Washington for a second assignment will be particularly gratifying," said the President untruly.

"I would like to take this opportunity," he added, "to convey through you my personal greetings to his excellency the President of the Dominican Republic."

All this at a time when a congressional committee and the State Department were investigating the Dominican murder of an American pilot and a Columbia University professor who once taught under Eisenhower.

Sandwiched in was a 30-minute flip to Capitol Hill for a box luncheon with GOP congressmen; a flight to Florida to review the Navy; a flight back to Washington to address the GOP National Committee; the dedication of a new building at American University.

Such are the burdens of the presidency. No wonder the President began to feel ill.

Today and Tomorrow—

The Tests and Our Position

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The administration is no doubt well aware that on the issue of the testing of nuclear weapons, it must not only make the right decisions. It must also justify them to the opinion of mankind. For the air belongs to all mankind, and the fallout from the American, the British, and the Russian nuclear explosions does not fall exclusively on American, British, and Russian territory. We are confronted with Khrushchev's "proposal to put an end to all explosions" and, whatever we may think of the sincerity or the wisdom of the proposal, it is one that we must discuss fully and frankly.

Mr. Lippmann

In his television interview a week ago Sunday, Khrushchev had some things to say which provide a good opening for the discussion. He had been asked by Mr. Schorr of the Columbia Broadcasting System why the Soviet government has not given notice of, or even announced afterwards, the last five tests conducted in the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev's answer was in substance: if your country were big enough as is Russian territory, for you to explode these tests in the United States, you would not warn of these tests beforehand. This does not happen to be strictly true in that we do announce the tests inside American territory.

But what is important about the statement is not this minor inaccuracy. It is the possible implication that the territory of Russia is so big that nuclear explosions could take place within it and remain unknown.

We Can Ask

To be quite fair, Khrushchev did not say explicitly that explosions in Russia, if they were not too big, could take place undetected. But he came near enough to saying it to warrant our asking him about it.

For this is precisely the point which troubles people in this country who would otherwise be glad to see an agreement to suspend the tests. They believe that it is in fact quite possible to set off an explosion in Siberia which would not be detected.

Beyond this there lies the question of whether, supposing that technical arrangements could be agreed to for detecting explosions, it would be wise to abolish further testing. On this there is a wide difference of opinion within the administration and the armed services.

There are those who believe that if there were no more tests here or in Russia or anywhere else, we would be ending the race secure in the lead. There are others who believe that if the tests are discontinued at this point, the development of the new weapons, which is now under way, will be thrown into confusion.

Position Confused

As a result of these differences of opinion, we are not speaking to the world as clearly as we should. At one time we seem to be saying that we would halt the tests if reliable methods could be agreed upon for enforcing the agreement. At other times, for example in the President's press conference last week, our position seems to be that we will not suspend testing unless we can be very sure that nuclear weapons will not be used at all in a future war. As that is something we can never be sure of — given the fact that the weapons already exist — this is very near to being a rejection of the idea that tests should be suspended or even limited.

Is this a tenable position for the United States? By a tenable position I mean one which we can continue to stand on, what with the mounting anxiety all over the world, what with the Soviet proposal to suspend all tests. I do not think we can stand there, and that we must take the position that we are prepared at least to limit, if not to suspend, further testing, subject to reasonable guarantees that the agreement will be observed.

For despite all the dispute among the scientists about the effects of the fallout, it is impossible to deny that a continuation of the tests — with three or more powers setting off the explosions — may do great harm to many people. If only the people of the three nuclear powers were liable to the harm, the decision could be made coldbloodedly that this is a price that must be paid for security. But when all the other nations are liable to the same harm, we have no right, without their consent, to impose the risk upon them.

Monessen's new $160,000 municipal building at Third and Schoonmaker has been under construction for the past year and it is believed that it will be six months more before it is completed. The work seems to be going slowly and city officials and the townspeople are disappointed over the conditions.

Eleanor Knuttila, of Monessen will be valedictorian tomorrow at the annual commencement exercises of Grove City College. Others from Monessen to be graduated at the time are Elsie Marie Robbins, Anna Margaret Conroy, Helen M. Johnson, Charles Edgar Anderson and John Eugene Pinette.

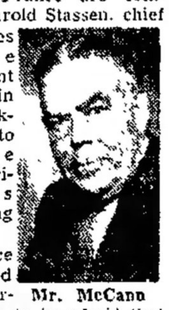
Allies Miffed at U. S. But Arms Talks Gain

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The Western Allies are disagreeing with each other instead of with Soviet Russia on disarmament negotiations.

Britain and France are complaining that Harold Stassen, chief United States delegate at the disarmament conference in London, is taking Russia into his confidence on new American proposals and slighting them.



Mr. McCann

Britain, France and West Germany also seem to be afraid that the United States, in its eagerness to take the first step toward agreement, may involve them in unsatisfactory inspection plans.

But the overall prospect for the necessary modest "first step" toward a disarmament agreement still seems to be good.

If the Allied disagreements can be overcome—and there is no reason to believe that they cannot—the London negotiations are likely to enter an important stage next week.

Stassen returned to Washington last weekend to confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Called On Carpet

It now appears that Dulles called Stassen to Washington because of British and French complaints about his activities.

What happened is that Stassen is ready to present a new series of proposals to the London conference.

The conferees consist of the the United States, Canada, Britain, France and Russia. These countries were chosen by the United Nations to conduct the disarmament talks.

Stassen, on taking the proposals to London, did considerable confidential talking with Valerian A. Zorin, the chief Soviet delegate.

It is evident that he outlined his proposals to Zorin. But he has not outlined them to the conference itself.

This seems, really, to be just a temporary complication in the negotiations.

Another Complication

But there is another complication in the fear of some Allied countries that American leaders, including President Eisenhower, are over-eager to get agreement with Russia.

Britain, for example, is reported to oppose too much concentration on nuclear weapons because Russia still has such overwhelming superiority in conventional weapons.

West Germany, whose approval of any system of aerial inspection of nuclear weapons facilities in Western Europe is essential wants the issue of German unification linked with any agreement.

But there seems good reason to hope that when Stassen formally unveils his new proposals in the London conference, the first real approach to a disarmament agreement may get under way.

The latest word is that Stassen will present them early next week.

At the White House—

'Omen' Forecast Ike's Illness Sunday Night

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

A truly superstitious individual could have forecast President Eisenhower's illness this week.

When he was at American University Sunday night to receive his honorary degree, the massive presidential seal fell from the speaker's stand and smashed to pieces on a platform a few feet from Eisenhower.

For the more practical, the omen pointed in another direction. The White House shortly will stop using the big plaster seals at the site of presidential appearances and shift to an unbreakable plastic product.

It is customary to display the seal of the president on a speaker's platform or banquet head table every time the chief executive speaks outside the White House.

Within a matter of minutes after the seal was broken the President was back at the White House and Mrs. Eisenhower was on the telephone to the White House doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, asking him to come at once to treat her ailing husband.

One news photograph made of the President at the university ceremony Sunday night showed him standing rather grave-faced with one fist clinched tightly. Even at that moment, he must have been fighting back the nausea that made him so painfully uncomfortable later in the night.

Probably the group most disappointed over the President's illness was Sen. Fritz Lawaetz and a group of fellow lawmakers from the legislative assembly of the Virgin Islands.

They were waiting in the anteroom outside the President's office Monday morning as his first callers of the day. One of the senators even brought along a bottle of prime Virgin Islands rum as a gift for the Chief Executive.

Just when they expected to be ushered into the President's office, Bernard Shanley, Eisenhower's appointment secretary, came into the room and told the delegation that the President was indisposed and their meeting was off.

To be sure that the Virgin Islanders did not disclose the situation before the White House was ready to announce it, they were carefully ushered out a side door not being watched at the time by reporters and they were told to keep quiet.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced the President's illness about 50 minutes later.

Friend Writes About Shaw

By UNITED PRESS

A man who was a close friend and neighbor of George Bernard Shaw for many years looked upon the distinguished playwright as a "jesting apostle." Stephen Winsten's newest book of Shaviana is a biography, "Jesting Apostle" (Dutton), subtitled "The Private Life of Bernard Shaw." It offers a clear-cut picture of the controversial writer who was also, surprisingly, "an excellent salesman, polite, knowledgeable and meticulously honest."

That description fit the young man shortly after he moved to London from his native Ireland. His job was selling music scores in a shop near Baker Street, but he did not stay long at it. He soon became a writer of essays, and began to realize that "his literary mission was to be a mental scavenger," trying to rid the world of "obsolete ideas, delusions and lies."

In the years of writing that followed, his work was marked by a sense of mischief "so ingrained that nothing was holy: no intimacy above betrayal, no loves above mockery." Winsten saw him as a man of great exuberance; Shaw's Fabian Society colleagues looked upon him as one who always preferred "the wild assertion to the qualified fact." Shaw regarded himself as above "such trivialities as consistency and fashion."

Two Monssen Players on Cup Teams

Two of Monessen's teen-aged tennis players — Mary Katsuleris and Jimmy Baker — will help to represent Pittsburgh in intra-city competition this summer. Katsuleris has been selected for the Junior Wightman Cup team while Baker has been named to the Junior Davis Cup squad. That's quite an honor . . . Incidentally both the Junior Wightman and Junior Davis Cup teams left Pittsburgh at noon today for matches in Toledo, O. They're scheduled to return late Sunday . . . Speaking of tennis, Lucille Musial, a Monessen High grad now at California Teachers, will conduct net classes for the Recreation Department at the City Park courts during the summer months. Those interested should register now between 9 a. m. and noon at the courts.

Paul (Buck) Redzanic, a 19-year old graduate of Brownsville High, has signed with the Boston Red Sox and will report next week to the Lexington, Neb., team. He has been playing with Luzerne in the Fayette County League, currently hitting at a .325 clip . . . When Pirate farmhand Dick Stuart was released recently by Atlanta, a club spokesman commented: "We're going for the pennant, and he's going for the whole world." . . . Don LeJohn, the former California High baseballer, is in a hitting slump at Macon, Ga., in the Class A South Atlantic League, but observers still predict that the slick-fielding third baseman will get a crack with the Brooklyn Dodgers next season.

Here's Report on New Ozark Catcher

Paul Jezioro, the new Monessen Ozark catcher, has attracted considerable attention since joining the club. He attended Fairmont State Teachers College the past semester after playing high school ball in Fair View, West Virginia. Paul is spending the summer with a cousin, Sam Caputo, of Belle Vernon. He is thinking seriously of transferring to California Teachers . . . Visiting Mon Valley League teams at Ninth Street Park are complaining that the pitcher's mound and home plate need immediate attention . . . The Charleroi Lee Norse team in the Tri-County Softball League lost eight straight games. But when Lee Norse Co. officials turned out for a formal visit to the ball park the other day, the Charleroi boys responded with a victory. Who says a fellow doesn't work harder when the boss is looking?

Recreation Department officials want us to keep plugging their adult swimming program for the summer. Classes for the men meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 to 9 p. m. while the women gather on Tuesday and Thursday at the Junior High pool . . . Incidentally, the favorite summer pastime of the five and six year old playground fans is "coloring", according to a Recreation Department spokesman. "We have a tough time keeping the youngsters supplied with crayons and coloring books," he reports.

No Lights Now at Charleroi Stadium

That decision by the Charleroi School Board to hand out $6,000 in salary increases to assistant coaches probably cancelled out the proposed new lighting system at the Cougar Stadium. Money earmarked for that project will now have to go toward the higher pay. Besides, recent test borings for the light standards have proved nothing, according to one informant . . . By the way, Charleroi High basketball coach Henry Pennline will make $1350 next season. He started at $800 when he took over the job a few years back. Jim (Toots) Fillingham, the Charleroi baseball coach, has been boosted to $950, including $100 as custodian. That must make him the highest paid baseball coach in the WPIAL.

Toledo Golf Course Lines up to Reputation

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOLEDO Ohio (UP) —You can bet on the unusual always happening at Inverness where they resume the U S Open today, and this time around it's worse than ever.

Back in 1920, when Inverness first staged America's top golf show, it came up with the oldest all-time winner in 43-year-old Ted Ray.

When the Toledo club tossed another golfing jamboree in 1951 the course fried under such a blazing sun that it was known as the "Inferno of Inverness."

Ice Bag On Head

Gene Sarazen played with an ice bag on his head, and to cap it off, Billy Burke beat George Von Elm in the longest playoff in Open history, a 72-hole scorcher.

But they broke all the records of misfortune as the Open came back to Inverness Thursday.

There was a virtual hurricane just before noon. The wind was a gale and the rain came down by the bathtubful. Huge branches fell from trees. Lawn furniture on the club grounds whirled like tenpins. Tents in various areas collapsed and only the "brawny" arms of the sportswriters, manning the guy ropes and poles saved the press tent from making like a bird. The five-ton aluminum scoreboard moved two feet.

Yet, honest to Betsy, the ball George Fazio teed up just as the storm broke still was perched there on its tiny wooden tee when he returned more than an hour later.

"All Shook Up"

The day started out "all shook up" when Ben Hogan showed up with a bad back, received a delayed starting time so he could see a doctor, and then finally had to withdraw anyhow. That was hardly out of the way when the hurricane hit.

It provided the wettest gallery this side of Coney Island and, after that, came a brief burst of sunshine which turned Inverness into a fair imitation of a Finnish sauna. But there was another storm en route and this one complete with almost as much water as the first one, drenched the last third of the field as it went doggedly and squishily about its appointed rounds.

But Inverness is Inverness, and trouble is trouble. Man the pumps men, there's another storm heading this way.

Demaret Takes Early Lead in U. S. Open; Harbert Is Second

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Husky Chick Harbert goes out this morning—one day late—to play a quick two holes which could tie or give him the first round lead in the U.S. Open golf championship.

Jimmy Demaret, the 47-year-old golfing grandfather with the boyish disposition, grabbed the top spot Thursday with a scrambling two under par 32-36—68.

But only darkness and dampness held Harbert, the former PGA champion, away from a chance to take the lead and very probably tie Jaunty Jimmy for the pace-setting role.

A near hurricane caused suspension of play in the opening round for more than an hour. On top of that, a late afternoon downpour bogged down the tempo of play even farther.

Misses Headlines

So when darkness set in, Harbert—needing only pars on the last two holes for a matching 68—walked disconsolately into the clubhouse without getting his crack at the headlines. Fourteen others took that walk with him and will go out along with Chick at 9 a.m. today to polish off the last few holes of the first round. But none had the chance that eluded Harbert because of the damp combination of cloud-busted circumstances.

Even if Harbert comes home with those two pars, his tie for the lead will be short-lived. Because second round play will be started at 8 a.m. and others will be making a determined run at the lead.

Three of the most inspired challengers will be Masters champion Doug Ford, 1952 champion Julius Boros and young Ken Venturi, each of whom shot a fine one-under-par 69 which left them just one slim shot off the pace.

Four At 70

And only one more shot back, at even par 70 were a quintet of hopeful shotmakers which included square-jawed Bud Ward of San Mateo, Calif., Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Billy Maxwell and Bo Wininger, both of Odessa, Tex.

Most everybody in the list, particularly those with a good first round, was more hopeful than when they reported for the start of the tournament because the major casualty of the opening day was the man most of them feared worst of all—Bantam Ben Hogan.

Hogan, favored to become the first man to win the Open an unprecedented five times, came down with a chronic neuralgic pain which made it impossible for him to swing. He was given a delayed starting time, darted off to town to see a doctor and receive diathermy treatment, but then had to withdraw.

As they moved into today's second round, which will decide the low 50 and ties who battle it out in Saturday's two final rounds, there were a number of others still in contention. Sammy Snead, four times a runner-up but never able to crack through, wasn't too happy with his opening 74.

But you still had to count the Slammer among the possibilities, along with a group at 71 which included curly - haired Jackie Burke, three - time British Open champion Peter Thomson and defending champion Cary Middlecoff.

Within striking distance, too, at 72 were such as Harvie Ward, Fred Hawkins, Roberto DiVicenzo, Jack Fleck and home town hope Frankie Stranahan. Gene Littler was at 73, along with long-hitting George Bayer.

Ed Oliver and Walt Burkemo shot 74; Ed Furgol, Jerry Barber and Shelley Mayfield 75s; Johnny Revolta, Dutch Harrison, Ted Kroll, Arnold Palmer, and George Fazio 76s and, apparently out of it already, were Lew Worsham and Pete Cooper at 78 and Lloyd Mangrum and Gene Sarazen at 79.

Pirates Nip Cincy To Sweep Series

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates put their longest winning streak since 1955 on the line tonight as they open a four-game series against the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs.

The Bucs, who amazed the National League with a nine-day stay at the top of the heap at about this time last year, put the senior circuit in another tizzy by notching their fifth straight triumph Thursday with a 3-2, ninth-inning victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The win gave the Pirates a clean sweep of the four-game series—after 15 straight losses to Cincinnati over a two-season span—and dropped the Redlegs from first place. It was Pittsburgh's ninth victory in the last 13 starts.

Manager Bobby Bragan went deep in his bag of tricks to pull out the Pirate triumph. The Bucs went into the bottom of the ninth with the game knotted 2-2.

Bragan Strategy

Bill Mazeroski opened with a single to left. Dick Rand, next up, made two attempts to bunt but missed both times. Bragan pulled him out and sent Paul Smith up with one strike left.

Smith singled to right. With Bob Friend up, Bragan again called for a sacrifice bunt. Again, after two bad swings, Bragan pulled his batter and sent in a pinchhitter, Bob Skinner, who forced Smith at second, moving Mazeroski to third.

With one out, loser Hal Jeffcoat walked Roberto Clemente to load the bases. Gene Baker then ended the game with a sacrifice fly to right which sent Mazeroski home.

Hoak Hits Two

Don Hoak singlehandedly accounted for the Redlegs' scoring with homers in the second and fifth.

Mazeroski scored the initial Pirate run in the second after he got on with a single, moved to second on a double steal in which Gene Freese was nipped at third, and scored on Rand's single. Dee Fondav scored in the third on Frank Thomas' double.

Ron Kline (2-8) goes for the Pirates tonight against Dick Drott (4-6) for Chicago.

Make Plans for Midget, Prep League Baseball

Monessen's Midget and Prep League programs are beginning to take shape.

That's the word from John Dacko, who directs the two leagues for the Recreation Department.

For the past week, both the Midgets and Preps have been working out at Ninth Street Park. They'll begin actual league competition on Monday.

The Midget League will be made up of boys who failed to make the grade with the Little League. All four teams will be uniformed.

Dacko said that PONY and Prep League boys will serve as managers of the four teams. They include Brian Laszewski, Bill and Bud Miller, James Seamon and Tom Malinchak.

Meet for Draft

Today those managers met with Dacko for the draft of players.

The Prep League will be comprised of boys 15 to 17 years of age.

Four teams have entered: White Sox, Black Hawks, Hilltop and Rockets.

Next Monday at noon the defending champion Black Hawks will meet the White Sox to officially start things.

As usual, all Midget and Prep games will be played at Ninth Street Park.

Valley League Meeting Monday

An important Mon Valley League baseball meeting will be held Monday at 9:15 p. m. in the Monessen Sport Shop.

Secretary Chuck Zubritsky said that all teams must have representatives present. Failure to attend the meeting without due cause results in a fine.

Ozarks Travel To West Newton

Seek to Keep Moving in Tight Mon Valley League Baseball Race

The Monessen Ozarks, moving again, will travel to West Newton tonight for a Mon Valley League test.

Manager Pappy Johnson's boys have won three of their last four assignments. That spree has vaulted them into fourth place in the MVL standings.

True enough, the Ozarks can't afford to lose a single game or they will dip back down into the second division. That's how tight the current race happens to be at the moment.

West Newton's only success this season was a forfeit ruling at the expense of Perryopolis.

Improved Ball

However the WN boys have been playing improved ball of late. They've lost a couple of close decisions in recent days.

Other games tonight will send Fayette City to New Eagle, Van Voorhis to Donora and Perryopolis to Charleroi.

Fayette City is currently atop the standings with a 13-3 record. The Fayettes have a full game lead over second place Charleroi.

Phils Cut Two For Their Roster

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The release of outfielder Frank Baumholtz and the farming out of pitcher Jack Meyer aroused speculation today that the Philadelphia Phillies may be on the brink of a trade.

The 38-year-old Baumholtz was released outright by the Phillies. Meyer, 25, was optioned to the Miami Marlins, the Phillies' affiliate in the International League, subject to 24-hour recall.

Little League Begins Make-Up Games Tonight

The first half race in the Monessen Little League was supposed to end last night.

However rain spoiled things. Anyway there's a whole raft of postponed games to make up.

Double-headers have been scheduled in both leagues tonight in an effort to catch up.

The National slate will pair the Elks against the Legion and CIO against the Lions.

In the American Division, Page Local will meet VFW and Ravens will tangle with Park Service.

A special meeting is planned following tonight's activity to determine the make-up schedule.

Since both races are extremely close, it will be necessary to regard just about every postponed tussle.

Majors Will Crack Down on 'Rowdyism'

By UNITED PRESS

League presidents Will Harridge and Warren Giles are expected today to crack down hard on fist-swinging hot heads in an effort to prevent "rowdyism" on major league baseball fields.

Fines of at least $100 are expected to be levied on the five participants in Thursday's brawls in Chicago and Brooklyn, while sharp warnings will be issued to all 16 teams to stop the fisticuffs. Action may also be taken to try to stop the controversial "dust off pitch"—the spark that touches off almost all baseball fights.

The game, already beset with congressional attack and franchise-switching troubles, has been smattered with more poor publicity this year than in the last 20 years. The first incident was Ted Williams' blast at the Marine Corps, former President Harry Truman and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft during spring training. That has been followed by the now-famous Copacabana incident involving the world champion Yankees and the assorted free-for-alls.

Reaches Climax

The situation reached a climax Thursday when the Yankees and White Sox engaged in a 28-minute free-for-all in Chicago and the Dodgers and Braves staged an impromptu fist fight at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field. Only last Sunday the Yankees and Tigers had a near free-for-all in Detroit and two members of the Yankees and White Sox threatened each other Wednesday night after a game won by the White Sox, 7-6.

In all cases, the "duster" touched off the swinging. The "duster" is a pitch thrown near enough to a hitter to drive him out of the batters' box but is not designed to hit him. It is a device the pitchers use against almost all long-ball hitters and it is a matter of course for it to be thrown to any batter who follows a teammate who has hit a home run.

Duster Fight

Pitcher Art Ditmar of the Yankees and outfielder Larry Doby of the White Sox squared off in Chicago Thursday after a "duster" while pitcher Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and shortstop Johnny Logan of the Braves battled in Brooklyn over a similar pitch.

Doby, Walt Dropo, Enos Slaughter and Billy Martin all were ejected from the Chicago game while both Drysdale and Logan were kicked out of the Brooklyn game

Williams Leads American League In Star Voting

NEW YORK (UP) — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, although unpopular in some baseball circles because of his popoffs and antics, was the No. 1 choice of the fans today in the first cumulative vote totals for the 1957 major league All-Star game

Commissioner Ford C Frick's statisticians announced that Williams has attracted a total of 15,255 votes for the left field berth on the American League team Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, with 14,755 votes for center field, was runner-up

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals led the early National League voting announced Thursday. Musial's total was 12,485 votes.

Fans throughout the nation are voting for the eight starting positions on each league All-Star team. Newspapers and radio and television stations are collecting the ballots and forwarding them to Frick's office for tabulation. Voting closes midnight June 27.

Other Leaders

Williams, who has been selected for 12 All-Star teams, and Mantle are two of the six 1956 American League starters who lead the early voting for their positions this year. The others are catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, shortstop Harvey Kuenn and right fielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, and second baseman Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox.

The closest voting for an American League starting position is right field, where Kaline has 8,111 votes to 7,998 for Jackie Jensen of the Red Sox.

Other leaders at their respective positions are Vic Wertz Cleveland Indians, first base, and Reno Bertoia, Tigers, third base

Milwaukee Takes Lead in NL: Williams Slams Three Homers

By MILTON RICHMAN

Milwaukee bounced into first place in the National League today with fists flying and the Yankees literally fought their way to within four games of the American League lead. But Ted Williams got in the best "punch" of all with a record-smashing home run spree.

The Braves moved a half game ahead of the N.L. pack by beating the Dodgers, 8-5, in a contest that featured a fist fight between Milwaukee's Johnny Logan and Brooklyn's Don Drysdale, while the Yankees defeated the White Sox, 4-3, after both clubs had engaged in a 28-minute free-for-all.

Williams, who didn't have to resort to his fists, became the first American League player ever to hit three home runs in a single game twice in the same season when he led the Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Indians

Sawatski, Bruton Homer

In Thursday's other A.L. games, Detroit edged Baltimore, 2-1, and rookie Jack Urban pitched Kansas City to a 6-2 victory over Washington in his first major league game

The Pirates registered their ninth victory in 13 starts by licking the Redlegs, 3-2; the Giants beat the Cubs, 7-4, and the Phils snapped the Cardinals' eight-game winning streak, 8-1, in other N.L contests.

Reserve catcher Carl Sawatski drove in four runs for Milwaukee with two doubles and a homer in a victory that was credited to Bob Trowbridge. Bill Bruton hit two homers for the Braves and Gino Cimoli connected for Brooklyn.

Action Aplenty

The fight between Logan and Drysdale erupted in the second inning after the Brooklyn pitcher hit the Milwaukee shortstop in the back with a pitch. First the two players exchanged words, then traded punches as players from both clubs rushed out onto the field.

There was even more action in the Yankees-White Sox game after Larry Doby of the White Sox had to hit the dirt in the first inning to avoid being struck by one of Art Ditmar's pitches. Doby and Ditmar swung at each other and a number of other fights soon broke out, involving Billy Martin, Bill Skowron and Enos Slaughter of the Yanks on one side and Walt Dropo and Doby of the White Sox on the other.

The Tigers, who had lost seven straight games to Ray Moore dating back to 1955, scored both their runs off him in the sixth. Charley Maxwell hit his 12th homer and J W. Porter doubled home the deciding run in the same frame.

Urban Stars

Urban's debut with Kansas City was a dandy. Called up from Denver of the American Association last week end, the young right hander allowed only five hits and struck out four. Bob Cerv, Harry Simpson, Hec Lopez and Joe DeMaestri homered for the A's.

Gene Baker's ninth inning sacrifice fly scored Bill Mazeroski with Pittsburgh's winning run Bob Friend limited the Redlegs to six hits in posting his fourth victory and giving the Pirates a sweep of the four-game series.

Both of Cincinnati's runs were the result of homers by Don Hoak.

Home runs by Whitey Lockman, Ray Jablonski and Red Schoendienst powered the Giants to their triumph over the Cubs. The Phillies' victory over the Cardinals vaulted them into second place, a half-game back of Milwaukee.

Plan Classes in Baton Twirling

A new activity — baton twirling — has been added to the Monessen Recreation Department's summer program.

Tom D'Errico, the city's Recreation Director,. today announced that classes in baton twirling will be offered to girls between the ages of 9 and 14 at Memorial Civic Center gym.

Registration will be held next Monday between 10 a. m. and noon at the Civic Center.

The class will be instructed by Anita Gazi, a majorette of the Monessen High band the past school year.

D'Errico said the new activity was being added after numerous requests.

Geneva Baseball Star Gets Bonus

BEAVER FALLS Pa. (UP) — John Dale Swogger, home run slugging centerfielder at Geneva College, has been signed to a $4 000 bonus contract with the Cleveland Indians.

The Wampum, Pa., native, 21 was assigned to the Indians North Platte, Neb., farm club

Swogger batted in 19 runs and hit six roundtrippers in 13 games with the Covies this past collegiate season

Greensburg Gets Another Coach

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — James Sibley, the man the Greensburg school board's athletic committee wanted all along, has been named basketball coach at Greensburg High.

The Shannock Valley coach, whose team was runnerup in the state Class B tourney last season, accepted the post after William P. Douglass, of Brentwood, turned it down.

The school board June 5 voted 3-2 to give the job to Douglass after rejecting an athletic committee report recommending Sibley. Douglass said he did not care for such a short margin of support.

200 Workers Are Suspended for Part in Walkout

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. today handed one day suspensions to more than 200 workers who staged a three-day wildcat strike at the Youngwood plant in protest against a new company timekeeping policy.

The workers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1963, voted unanimously to end their strike Thursday.

The walk-out, termed a spontaneous demonstration" by union officials, began Tuesday morning when, as one local spokesman put it, the company required certain workers to keep records of certain personal and natural activities."

The one-day disciplinary furlough went into effect today, a company spokesman said. Production will be resumed Monday.

Union and management meetings were scheduled for next week in an effort to resolve the differences.

SHUTS DOWN FURNACE — Charles Trexel, keeper at the No. 2 blast furnace of Donora Steel Works, American Steel & Wire Division, U. S. Steel Corp., opens the chimney valve on the blast furnace stoves in preparation for closing down the furnaces for a complete relining. Trexel has 15 years service at the Donora plant.

Hammermill Bond Plant on Strike Over Contract

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—More than 2,100 workers went on strike against the Hammermill Paper Co. here today closing the home plant of the nation's largest bond paper manufacturer.

The walkout began at midnight as the result of a dispute over a wage contract to replace the agreement which expired June 1.

The United Papermakers and Paper Workers Union Local 620 last Wednesday rejected the company's final" offer. A Hammermill spokesman said the proposal included a general 10-cent an hour across-the-board increase and an average 1¼ cent and hour special rate adjustment.

The company said the union accepted the 10 cent an hour figure, but balked on fringe benefits. Local President Frank Mayr said negotiations were deadlocked over vacations, paid holidays, arbitration of incentive grievances, notice of contract termination and special job rate adjustments.

Hammermill maintained the general and special increase constituted a fair" offer in line with prevailing wages in the industry.

The walkout did not immediately affect Hammermill production in other plants.

Blast Furnace At Donora Plant Shut Down Today

The No. 2 blast furnace at Donora Steel Works of American Steel & Wire Division, U. S. Steel Corp., was taken out of operation today for a complete relining, U. F. Corsini, general superintendent, announced.

First blown in 1905, this U. S. Steel furnace has since produced 9,453,366 tons of iron. Since the last complete relining on Feb. 19, 1956, 2,603,000 tons of iron have been produced.

The No. 2 furnace has a daily rated capacity of 616 tons. There will be one blast furnace in operation at the plant after Friday.

Relining this blast furnace necessitates a further curtailment in the plant's work forces.

Democrats See Full House

HARRISBURG (UP) — Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr today predicted a full house for the party's $100-a-ticket fund raising dinner here June 19.

Former President Harry S. Truman will be the guest speaker at the affair in the Zembo Mosque.

Barr predicted a gross sale of more than $400,000 with 4,000 tickets purchased.

Special trains will run from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and special buses will serve Scranton and other areas throughout the state.

"We will use the dinner proceeds to finance newspaper, radio and television advertising campaigns to further acquaint the people of Pennsylvania with the accomplishments and programs of this Democratic administration," Barr said. "We also will bring to the people of Pennsylvania the full story of irresponsible Republicanism. With their callous disregard for human values they have eliminated many programs that would have done much to take Pennsylvania out of the 'Dark Ages' of human welfare."

Billy Graham's N. Y. Crusade Proving to Be Quite Costly

(This is the fourth and final special report by the United Press on Billy Graham's New York crusade. It tells about the financial side of the crusade—where the money comes from, and where it goes.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

NEW YORK (UP) — Years ago when he was just beginning his career as an evangelist, Billy Graham was photographed holding a bag of money which his sponsors had just presented to him.

The picture appeared in the newspapers and embarrassed Graham acutely. He resolved then that never again would he jeopardize his ministry by giving people any ground for suspicion that he was getting rich from evangelism.

Today the finances of a Graham crusade are handled with an impeccable care that would do credit to a bank. Every penny taken in and paid out is audited by a firm of certified public accountants.

But the association of evangelists with profiteering is so strong in the public mind—and indeed, so well justified by the record of some itinerant preachers — that Graham still gets a few abusive letters each day from people who regard him as a kind of racketeer.

Hull In Charge

To Roger Hull, who has the responsibility of raising enough money to meet the bills of the current New York crusade in Madison Square Garden, it seems incredible that anyone should consider Graham's meetings a money-making operation.

Hull is vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. He also is chairman of the committee — legally incorporated under the laws of New York state —which is sponsoring the meetings. He opened the books to a reporter in his office to show that crusading is a very costly business.

One of the smallest items is the allowance of $15 a day which the committee pays to Graham for living expenses. Graham also gets a salary of $15,000 a year, but this is paid entirely by the Billy Graham Evangelical Assn. of Minneapolis, Minn., which sponsors his "Hour of Decision" radio broadcasts each Sunday afternoon. The evangelist gets no extra salary, no "love offering" of any kind, from the funds raised for the New York crusade.

Rent Big Item

Big items of expense are the rent for Madison Square Garden —$5,000 a night — and salaries of 60-odd ushers, stage-hands and other Garden employes that run to about $1,500 a night. Advertising and publicity expenses, including daily radio and nightly television programs in the New York area, average $40,000 a week. Expenses of the crusade office at 165 West 46th Street, including staff salaries, printing, postage, and rent total $17,000 a week.

These costs, to run to more than one million dollars by the time the meetings end on July 31, are lumped into one budget to be met by funds raised by the local crusade committee.

The offerings taken up at the Garden each night will cover only a little more than one third of this figure if they continue at the present rate. The offering — which is immediately placed in the custody of, and counted by, representatives of the Chase Manhattan Bank — has averaged about $7,100 a night.

West Is Angry with Stassen

LONDON (UP)—Western diplomats complained privately but angrily today the Russians know more about Harold E. Stassen's latest disarmament plan than the United States' closest allies know themselves.

The new American plan still has not been presented to the five-power London disarmament conference which resumes today although Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev discussed it Thursday in Helsinki.

Stassen returned from Washington today with new "procedural" instructions from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Stassen denied he had been reprimanded for his private talks with Russian representative Valerian Zorin.

But Western diplomats expressed satisfaction that veteran American diplomat Julius Holmes, former minister to London, would arrive here shortly from Washington to "chaperone" Stassen on matters of procedure.

The representatives of Britain, France and Canada called private talks with Stassen today three hours after his arrival and it was understood he would fill them in on his talks with Dulles.

The chief concern among the American allies—especially West Germany—was that the United States might try to pull off a deal with Russia, not only on disarmament but on broader issues including Germany.

Administration sources in Washington flatly denied this, but the rumors persisted and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported especially worried that this become an issue in the heated West German election campaign.

The sources in Washington said Stassen had been told to make absolutely sure the Allies are told in advance what he takes up with Zorin in future talks—including details and context.

Steelworkers to Get Raise

Seven Cents Increase Due Local Workers After July 1

Pittsburgh Steel Co. employes will get a wage boost of at least seven cents an hour starting July 1.

This is part of a three-year, no-strike agreement, signed last August between Pittsburgh Steel and the United Steelworkers of America.

Effective July 1, and in addition to the seven cents an hour wage increase for all employes, Sunday premium pay will be increased from one and one-tenth to one and one-fifth times the employe's regular rate of pay.

Holiday pay will be raised from two times to two and one-tenth times.

While Job Class 2 rate employes will be hiked by seven cents an hour, all other job classes will receive the same seven cents an hour boost and also a .2 per cent per hour increase in increments between job classes.

Salaried Employes

All employes working under incentive plans will have their pay increased by the same percentage increase in the employe's standard hourly wage rates.

For weekly salaried employes, appropriate adjustments to increase the bi-weekly scale of rates for the respective job classes will be made.

Locomotive firemen, enginemen, conductors and brakemen will also receive appropriate adjustments.

These benefits result from a three-year contract signed with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in October, 1956 and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen last January.

These contracts — with steelworkers and railroaders — also contain a series of further improvements to be made November 1 of this year and still others on July 1, 1958.

No-strike Phase

The upcoming July 1 raise and companion benefits take on new importance, steel industry leaders have been saying, when it is considered that all the benefits going to employes were obtained without the usual dragged-out negotiations which resulted when contracts were opened every year.

The no-strike phase of the steelworkers' contract means that Pittsburgh Steel employes are being spared "strike fear" and the necessity of holding back on necessary household and family goods they want to buy.

For Pittsburgh Steel's customer, the new contract eliminates losses and dislocation of operations and employment resulting from steel strikes or uncertainty over the outcome of negotiations.

For the communities in which Pittsburgh Steel Co. operations are located, local merchants have not experienced the annual business "freeze" contract negotiating time brought in past years. And the shareholders now have the prospect of steady growth of Pittsburgh Steel, which they own.

U. S. Leads in Total Gross Shipping Tonnage

LONDON (UP) — The United States led the world in total gross tonnage of shipping under its flag last year, Lloyd's Register of Shipping reported today.

In its annual report covering the year 1946, Lloyd's said the United States had 22.47 per cent of world flag distribution of shipping—excluding Great Lakes shipping—in that period.

Britain followed with 18.58 per cent, Norway with 7.64 per cent, Liberia 5.31, Italy 3.99, Japan 3.87, The Netherlands 3.81, France 3.75, Panama 3.73, and West Germany 3.05.

World gross shipping tonnage was listed as 105,200,361 gross tons. The U.S. lead with 26,145,642 tons, Britain was second with 19,545,875 tons, and Norway third with 8,035,340 tons.

Russia was credited with 2.51 per cent for 1956, a steadily increasing figure compared with its 2.49 per cent in 1955, 2.43 per cent in 1954 and 1.91 per cent in 1939.

However, Japan led the world last year in ship launchings and export shipping tonnage. Japan also ranked equally with West Germany and Sweden in offering minimum average ship construction times of nine months.

No Tax Cut At Least for The Next Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's budget chief says the earliest you can hope for a tax cut is more than a year away. And then only maybe.

Budget Bureau Director Percival F. Brundage told a joint congressional economic subcommittee Thursday that he hopes "it may be possible to consider some tax reductions" to become effective sometime after July 1, 1958.

But he said this would be possible only if the battle for economy goes on relentlessly. And he suggested that even then the tax-cutting prospects might be overturned if prices keep rising.

The subcommittee has received testimony from a number of private economists that cutting taxes would be inflationary under present economic conditions even if a budget surplus of 3 billion dollars was in prospect.

Wants Gas Tax Restored; Will Help Build Roads

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Republican - controlled General Assembly was asked today to consider restoration of the one cent emergency gasoline tax dropped last June 1.

The appeal was made by Thomas S. Stephenson, president of the Pennsylvania Home Rule Association, in a letter to Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

Stephenson said the loss of the penny tax will result in Pennsylvania rural and suburban areas losing over 50 million dollars in road improvements in the next two years.

He said no federal aid would be available for improvements on the state's rural and secondary roads nor on the main state highway system because of the matching fund requirement.

He called on the Legislature to bring to the floor Democratic-sponsored bills proposing reenactment of the temporary tax.

Bones of Giant Called 'Absurd'

MANILA (UP)—A Filipino anthropologist today labeled as "absurd" reports that skeletal remains of a 17½-foot tall giant had been discovered in Cagayan Province.

"It's absurd," Dr. Inocencio B. Maddela of the Philippine Anthropological Society told United Press. "I cannot swallow the story."

Maddela said he and other leading scientists here believe the bones found by a group of game hunters belonged to a dwarf specie of elephant.

"That would amount to an important discovery at any rate," Maddela said. "It would tend to prove the theory that the Philippines was once part of the Asian mainland."

General Is Named

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Lt. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan to be the senior U.S. Army member of the United Nations Military Staff

Counties to Get Share of Taxes

HARRISBURG (UP) — Sixty-four of the state's 67 counties are in line for payments of $7,272,693 representing their share of gasoline taxes collected by the Commonwealth.

Auditor General Charles C. Smith pointed out the money received by each county must be used for construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of roads, highways and bridges within their territories.

'Drys' Gain in Local Referenda

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board reported today the "drys' made substantial gains in local option referenda at the May 21 primary on the question of sale of liquor or beer in communities.

Board Chairman Patrick E.Kerwin said official returns showed that 31 of the 49 municipalities involved voted dry and 18 voted wet.

The drys scored a net gain of five municipalities having a combined population of 2,843, on the granting of liquor licenses, and seven additional communities on the granting of beer licenses, with a population of 6,375.

Lawler Praises State for Part In U. S. Program

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (UP) — State Secretary of Highways Joseph J. Lawler said Thursday that Pennsylvania ranks third in the nation in the financing and planing of the federal interstate road system enacted a year ago.

Lawler told delegates to the 51st annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation of the American Automobile Association that all but 40 miles of routes alloted as the state's share of the interstate system have been designated.

He lauded personnel of the highway department, but warned of a severe shortage of trained civil engineers.

Bertram D. Tallamy, federal road administrator, praised the department for what he called foresight and leadership in face of shortages. He said that electronic aids employed by the department to meet the engineering shortage has helped reduce design time as much as 98 pr cent.

Wives Capture Write-in Revolt

EASTVILLE, Va. (UP) — A write-in revolt at the polls has bounced the top town officials of Eastville and elected their wives.

Only one was an exception. He lost out to his mother.

Election day Wednesday was just a quiet, summer day for the 131 citizens of this little town on Virginia's lower eastern shore. The shoo - in ticket of seven men on the ballot was unopposed.

About 110 citizens were eligible to vote, but only 24 did. Many were out of town watching the international naval review across Chesapeake Bay.

Then the vote was counted.

William R. Shannonhouse, candidate for mayor, lost to his wife, Mary, by a whisker. He got 11 votes. She got 12.

Each of five candidates for the town council lost to his wife by two votes. The sixth candidate lost to his mother by one.

The results were so sensational they broke up a bridge party. No one appeared happy.

The new mayor —Mrs. William R. Shannonhouse— put down her cards and called for an investigation.

"None of the women were trying to become candidates," she said indignantly. "We don't feel for a minute we should fill our husbands' shoes."

Shannonhouse said it was all right with him and the rest of the officials if the women want to take over.

"But," he said, "they seem to be very much against it."

He said the women could solve the problem by resigning. He said then the incumbent administration probably could continue in office.

But the women didn't say immediately whether they were irked enough to quit.

Shannonhouse called the write-in revolt the work of practical jokers.

"We were surprised," he said.

Police Search on for Killer of Six-year-old

DETROIT (UP)—Police pressed a widespread search today for the killer of 6-year-old Mary DeCaussin, whose raped and mutilated body was found near a roadside park in suburban Ecorse Twp. Thursday.

One man was held for questioning, while two others were released. Police worked around the clock tracking down clues and tips.

Jacques Pares, an itinerant workman from Patchogue, N.Y., was arrested Thursday night. Police Lt. John Nichols said Pares, 23, denied any knowledge of the brutal murder, "but we're waiting on a report from New York on his fingerprints."

Handprint On Car

One handprint believed to be that of a little girl was found on the inside of Pares' car.

Lt. William Lutz of the Ecorse Twp. police described Pares as "a good suspect." He was arrested after neighbors reported seeing him near the child's home the past two days.

The other two men, an 18-year-old youth and a commercial photographer, were locked up Thursday, but then released after making statements.

Bentley Galloway, Ecorse Twp. police chief, said he planned to begin questioning known sex offenders today. "We'll round them up," he said, "and see what we get."

Galloway, who led the 22-hour search by 1,000 police and volunteers, promised to track down the killer "if we have to follow him clear across the country."

More Than A Crime

"What can you do?" he asked after the girl was found with her hands tied behind her back and wearing only a blood-splattered blouse. "Robbing a bank is one thing. That's a crime. But this?"

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund De Caussin Jr., disappeared from her home Wednesday evening. A search was started and continued all through the night.

Paul Panter, a homeowner who lives near the park, discovered the body when he went to empty some trash. "I saw her there in the bushes," he said, "and ran home and told my wife to call police."

"We will have sex perverts," he said, "until the day society changes its basic moral principles and reasserts a belief in God."

National Steel Pours its 100 Millionth Ton

PITTSBURGH (UP) — National Steel Corp., the youngest of the nation's steel producing giants, announced today the pouring of its 100 millionth ton of steel.

Thomas E. Millsop, president, said the mark was passed Wednesday with almost simultaneous tappings at the No. 1 open hearth furnace at Weirton Steel Co., Weirton, W. Va., and the No. 2 furnace at Great Lakes Steel Corp., Detroit, Mich.

The first steel produced anywhere in what was to become the National Steel organization was at Weirton in 1920. The Great Lakes plant was under construction at the time of the formation of National Steel in November 1929.

The corporation, which started with a rated capacity of 1,250,000 tons a year, can now produce 6,200,000 tons annually. A planned expansion program will bring that mark over the 7,000,000 ton level by early 1958.

The No. 14 furnace at Weirton is the world's largest open-hearth in the world, with a capacity of 600 tons per heat.

Leader Okays Bill Changing Road Financing

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has signed legislation authorizing the state Highways Department to pay contractors 5 per cent interest on the amount still owed on construction projects 90 days after completion of the work.

The new law was praised by F.C. Wagman, president of the Associated Pennsylvania Contractors, who said highway users would benefit by having their tax dollars go into actual highway construction "instead of into interest on funds which many contractors have been forced to borrow."

He said the measure should result in more favorable construction bids for the state Highways Department, since the contractors will no longer have to include in their bids provision for financing their work for an indefinite period after completion while awaiting payment by the state.

District Firms Are Shipping To Venezuela

Several Monongahela valley industrial firms are shipping into Venezuela, according to a survey recently completed.

The dollar value of exports shipped from Pennsylvania firms to Venezuela rose nearly 35 per cent in the last two years, the survey says.

The rise — from $25,154.000 in 1954 to an estimated $34.693.000 in 1956 — was attributed to an increase principally in exports of machinery and steel mill products.

Communities from this district which have shipped products to Venezuela include:

Allenport, Greensburg, Jeannette, Latrobe, Monessen, Monongahela, New Kensington and Youngwood.

Low Bids Received On Donegal School

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public School Building Authority has received unofficial low bids totaling $215.000 for construction of a new elementary school for the Donegal Twp. School District, Westmoreland County.

The low bidders were:

Earl L. Christner, Scottdale $142.000, general construction; P. J. Tamasy & Sons, West Newton 36.000, heating and ventilation Cauchak Bros., Inc., Wilmerding 22.600, plumbing and Arthur Saucke, Scottdale, $14.950, for electrical work.

Egg Marketing Controls

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Pennsylvania grocers and organized labor today urged state senators to kill two bills which would put egg marketing in the state under strict controls. One grocery association official predicted the measures might increase retail egg prices by as much as $1 a dozen.

The bills also would make the retail grocer who handles eggs take out two state licenses. Both bills have passed the state assembly and presently are before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Rep. Austin Lee (R-Phila.) who opposed one of the measures in the House, said he believed both measures would die in committee.

House Bill 1039, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmers Association requires grocers to obtain a license to buy eggs; pay the state an inspection fee of at least two cents and possibly four cents per 30-dozen case for classification; require the grocer to send the eggs to the nearest classification station; furnish the producer with an analysis of how the eggs graded; mark the eggs so he would be certain of receiving his own back from the classification station; and keep records of every egg he purchased for resale.

House Bill 1500 also provides for issuance of an annual license and requires the dealer to take out a surety bond "in an amount equal to the total volume of business done or estimated to be done in a week by the applicant."

Bill 1039 exempts farmers who sell eggs directly to the housewife and farmers who sell to restaurants.

Back to the Beat

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Police in this Pennsylvania mining community are looking for the nerviest crook in town. Deputy Sheriff John Hughes said someone stole his automobile from its parking place in back of the county jail.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles W. Naylor, who died two years ago today, June 14, 1955
We lost a Dad with a heart of gold
Who is more to us than wealth untold.
Without farewell he fell asleep
With only memories for us to keep.
We have lost but God has gained
One of the best fathers the world contained.
Sadly missed by his Wife, Irene and Children.

Woman Told to Answer Charges On Bus Purchase

HARRISBURG (UP)—A Homestead woman was under Public Utility Commission order today to show cause why she should not be penalized for taking over a bus line through stock purchase without obtaining approval of the agency.

The rule, answerable within 15 days, was issued against Sara O. DeBolt. The PUC said Mrs. DeBolt operates a certificated truck line and under the law one utility must get PUC authority when buying 5 per cent or more of another utility's stock.

The Somerset Bus Co., whose stock she purchased last year, operates between Somerset, Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Wellersburg and Springs. The PUC said a public hearing will be held on the rule and if a penalty is ordered it could mean revocation of her trucking permit or a fine.

Two Priests Released By the Chinese Reds

HONG KONG (UP)—Two American Roman Catholic priests were released from Communist Chinese captivity today upon completion of four year prison terms, according to a telephone report from Shanghai.

The priests were Jesuit Fathers Charles J. McCarthy, of San Francisco, and John A. Houle, of Glendale, Calif. They were arrested in Shanghai June 15, 1953 and sentenced to four years imprisonment on charges of espionage.

In a telephone conversation with the United Press office here, McCarthy said he and Houle are in good health.

"I'm quite well," he said. "Father Houle still has a bad back but he is comparatively well, in good health."

McCarthy sounded cheerful and was willing to talk in contrast to the reluctance of previously-released prisoners to speak of their experiences over the telephone from Communist China.

"We expect to leave here within 10 days but are not sure since we have not had time to make inquiries about transportation," he said.

The two priests were released at 10 o'clock this morning (Shanghai time).

Two other clergymen were released earlier this year upon completion of their prison terms. They were Franciscan Father Fulgence Gross, of Omaha, Neb., released March 28 after six years imprisonment, and the Rev. Paul J. Kaemensen, of Baltimore, Md., a Lutheran missionary who served five years.

The release of McCarthy and Houle left six Americans known held in Red captivity. They include Francisco Father John P Wagner, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Maryknoll Father Joseph P. McCormick, Ossining, N.Y.

Dope Peddler Gets Addition Of 30 Years

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Counsel for Edward Todd, who had 30 years added to the 10-year federal term he is serving for narcotics violations when he pleaded guilty to state charges, declared today his client was double-crossed.

After the long additional term was imposed on the former Bellaire, Ohio, saloonkeeper, by Allegheny County Judge William F. Cercone, attorney John Malik announced he would appeal the penalty.

Todd had escaped prosecution in Ohio, where he was liable to a 30-year term, by turning informant on his former associates in a narcotics ring. Ohio authorities released him to federal prosecutors and he drew the lighter 10 year sentence in Ohio U.S. District Court.

Pennsylvania authorities then pressed charges of possession and sale of heroin in violation of state charges. When Todd pleaded guilty Thursday, Judge Cercone imposed the additional 30-year term plus a $7,500 fine.

Malik said he had been led to believe through "representations made to me by the district attorney's office" that Todd would receive the same leniency here as was shown by Ohio authorities.

New Polio Cases Reported in U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service reported today that there were 74 new cases of poliomyelitis during the week ended June 8.

They brought to 511 the number of cases reported since April 1, the "seasonal low" point which is considered the start of the new polio season.

Success of Salk polio vaccine injections was reflected in public health figures for this and previous years. The 74 cases during the past week compared with 177 in the corresponding week of 1956 and a 224-case median for the 1952-56 years. The 511 cases since April 1 compared with 973 last season and the 1,302 median since 1952.

U. S. Temperatures

NEW YORK (UP)—The nation's low temperature today, the U.S. Weather Bureau said, was 30 degrees at Malad City, Idaho; highest reported Thursday, 106, at Yuma, Ariz.

U. S. Prisoner Escapes For the Fourth Time

CHICAGO (UP) — Police and federal agents searched today for a federal prisoner described as "dangerous". He slipped away from a U.S. marshal at Midway Airport.

It was his fourth escape from custody.

James Nevin Keller, 31, and a woman claiming to be his wife were being escorted Thursday to Scranton, Pa., from Tucson, Ariz. for questioning about a 1956 bank robbery at Arendtville, Pa.

The couple was in custody of Marshal Frank Foley and his deputy, Mrs. Olive Metcalfe. The four were in a line of passengers boarding an eastbound Trans World Airlines plane. The prisoners were not handcuffed.

As they walked up the loading ramp, the woman, later identified as Doris Jean Henderson, 28, an alleged accomplice in the robbery, fell to the ground in a "faint."

The marshal and Mrs. Metcalfe helped her to her feet but she "fainted" again

In the confusion Keller slipped away. Half an hour later a car was reported stolen about a block from the airport.

Chicago police joined federal authorities in searching for Keller but turned up no clues. Officials said they believed Keller was out of the Chicago area.

Foley said the couple was arrested in Tucson by FBI agents. He said they had bought a house there after fleeing Pennsylvania following escape from a Chambersburg, Pa., jail.

Keller was reported to have escaped twice from federal penal institutions. He served three years in a Colorado prison for auto theft.

Pennsylvania authorities said Keller's real wife was now living in Gettysburg, Pa.

The fugitive was described as 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds. He has a one-inch scar in the center of his forehead. He was wearing a blue summer suit

Summer Jobs for the Kids Really Important

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

This might make me unpopular with the kinds, but let me repeat a familiar phrase: 'There is no substitute for work."

With summer vacation just around the corner, time will hang heavy for many adolescents — unless they can get a suitable job

While the subject of work might not have much to do with health, it is a vital problem in relation to the matter with which I have always been concerned.

I do not expect your teen-ager to begin a life-long career with his summer job; but he might just as well try to find something he really likes to do than to accept an old job

Let him find a job by him self It will greatly help to give him a sense of responsibility.

Do not try to substitute work around the home for a regular job. Generally, this sort of responsibility just does not work out

If you can afford to pay your teen-ager for household chores, you can afford to give him an allowance

Making him mow the lawn, wash the car, or clean the basement to collect what in reality is an allowance, may seem like pure meanness to the youngster

He knows that you are creating an artificial obstacle to the money that is available to him. and he is apt to resent it.

By earning money, a youngster should soon learn the value of it If he spends it on shoddy merchandise, or too much of it on pleasures, he will quickly learn the folly of his ways. When he needs other things, there just will not be enough money left

Thus, a job helps a teen-ager to learn quite a bit about the adult life he someday will have to assume

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Oh, dear, don't you read anything but the news and the comics?"

Fewer Flags Are Being Flown

NEW YORK (UP)—Old Glory will appear in a big way today but perhaps in fewer numbers than on some past Flag Days.

A 78 foot by 155 foot Star Spangled Banner, once nicknamed the "victory" flag and believed to be the biggest American flag ever made will hang across the front of a new skyscraper in New York.

But a major flag maker reported its sales indicate fewer flags are bought and used today than in former years. The company said it sells only one flag today for every 50 flags it sold 20 years ago.

The late Benjamin Altheimer is generally credited with starting Flag Day. His greatest pleasure in later life was to stroll up Fifth Avenue here on flag day and see the hundreds of American flags on patriotic display.

Altheimer, a German immigrant who made millions as a banker and broker in St. Louis, was impressed with a flag raising ceremony at Fort Sam Houston in Texas. In 1911 he offered to give an American flag to any institution which would promise to display it annually on June 14.

Altheimer had learned that June 14 was the day in 1777 when the Continental Congress accepted Betsy Ross' flag. Mostly as a result of his giving away thousands of American flags, June 14 has become Flag Day.

But Sam Coolick and Sam Schatz, owners of the National Flag and Display Company which is a large manufacturer of American flags, said today "our sales just don't indicate that the American public buys and flys the American flag as much as they used to. We only sell one American flag for every 50 we sold 20 years ago."

Coolick said he hoped the huge 600-pound "victory" flag that will cover the front of the new skyscraper Tishman Building here from its second to tenth story would remind New Yorkers that the "broad stripes and bright stars" are still the emblem of "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

The giant banner first was displayed in 1943 on a New York department store as part of a war bonds sales appeal.

The flag, carried by eight men when folded and rigged by a 25-man crew, later covered eight stories of the front of Macy's department store on VE Day in 1945.

Some 190 million dollar bills are destroyed at the Federal Reserve bank of New York each year.

Paris Drivers Really Honest

PARIS (UP) — Paris motorists have had it tough what with monumental traffic jams, a ban on honking and the Gallic nerve of other motorists. Now they are becoming human parking meters who have to tell on themselves.

The prefecture of police announced that drivers wishing to park in the central area of the city after next October will have to paste a sticker on their windshields informing police what time they parked their car.

When they park their car they will turn a knob on the card which indicates the time they arrived. A "window" in the card shows when their time is up.

Roger Genebrier, prefect of police, said his policemen would be rough on any motorist caught falsifying the hours.

Fulfills Her Ambition

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UP)—The angry policeman and the spirited young woman who fulfilled her life's ambition by hurling a sandwich in his face will confront each other in court today.

Miss Lucille Douty, 28, hauled into court under $50 bond, had her explanation ready for the judge:

"It was worth it. I always wanted to throw something at a cop."

Patrolman Bernie Hyman, described as one of "Miami Beach's best," had packed a lot of his outraged feelings into words he blurted into his prowl car radio while ham, bread and goo dripped from his face:

"Get that car!"

Miss Douty admitted to patrolmen who halted her sports car 17 blocks later that she had eased the convertible alongside the unsuspecting officer wearing the natty uniform and let go with her missile.

Paper plate, dirty napkin, ham sandwich and mustard splattered right on his face. Then Miss Douty who was driving several friends zoomed away.

Hyman, still "burning" several hours later, said, "It was deliberate, all right."

"How would you feel if you were standing around minding your own business when all of a sudden a sandwich hits you—pow, right in the kisser?" he asked.

Miss Douty, was booked on a charge of scattering trash.

Soviet Output Up

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet Union's industrial output is now four times what it was in 1940, Moscow Radio said today. It gave no other figures.

Vote on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House civil rights forces drove today for a final vote on the civil rights program by nightfall.

But southerners said they have many more amendments to propose. They predicted no final vote today.

The House spent five hours Thursday debating and defeating amendments affecting on a small section of the bill.

The amendments were aimed at limiting or changing the duties of a federal commission called for by the Civil Rights Bill. The commission would investigate complaints of right-to-vote violations.

The key amendment still to come was the "jury trial" amendment. That would guarantee the right of trial by jury instead of by a federal judge to persons accused of violating federal injunctions in civil rights cases.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. predicted the southerners would get a "good licking" on the amendment.

Bakers: The Senate Rackets Committee called Bakery Union President James G. Cross for questioning. The committee wanted to ask him among other things how his beautiful brunette girl friend got on the union payroll as an "organizer."

Baseball: Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) predicted "major changes" in the National League. Hillings also said "there may be some rumblings in the American League later." Hillings is sponsoring legislation that would bring baseball under the anti-trust laws.

Taxes: Budget Bureau Director Percival Brundage told a joint congressional economic subcommittee the earliest possible tax cut is more than a year away. And, he said, a tax cut then would be possible only if the line on federal spending is held and prices remain stable.
